Electric and steel guitar numbers were offered by Jerry Fulliam, Bob Mulberry and Jack Williams, all of Campbell Union High School.

Grange members joined in the civic project contest being sponsored by the National Grange, choosing as the local project a student scholarship fund to aid the local chapter of the Future Farmers who meet in Campbell high school. This will be a revolving fund.

Grange members also voted a donation of $10 for the volunteer Campbell Legion Patrol. ### MUMPS CASES ARE REPORTED IN CAMPBELL

Reported cases of mumps in Campbell dropped to only two for the week ending December 10, the County Health Department reported. Last week Campbell topped the county with 16 mumps cases.

Despite announcement to the contrary in a San Jose daily paper, the Campbell American Legion Patrol has not agreed to be responsible for enforcement of the proposed traffic ordinance in Campbell, nor has Rex Kaber, originator of the patrol, stated today that the patrol it been authorized to do so. The reason is that there is no authority for such an appointment yet.

BLOOD DONATIONS FAR BELOW NEED SAYS CHAIRMAN

Only half of those who had signed up to give blood Wednesday actually appeared to donate during the mobile unit's visit to Campbell, according to J. F. Levenberg, Campbell blood procurement chairman. Seventy-five pints were needed, the sign-up was just about half that and the actual turnout was a very small percentage of the number needed.

Levenberg extended his thanks to all those who did show up and to all who participated in the blood bank work. He thanked especially, "Mrs. Ellen Lanphear and her very capable committee of volunteers, and the Rev. Lawrence J. Osborne who made the Methodist parish house available for the blood collection center."

JC Kids' Matinee Next Tuesday

Hey, Mom! Let's send the kids to a free show. Well, practically free, that is. All they have to do is take a can of food to help needy people at Christmas and they can get into the Campbell Theater Tuesday afternoon, December 20, at 2 p.m.

Regular first run pictures with lots of laughs, cartoons and other shorts will be shown.

Come on kids! Just bring a can of food to the window of the theater and you'll get in. The Campbell Junior Chamber of Commerce wants every one of you kids in the Campbell area, that is San Tomas, Cambrian, Moorpark, and Campbell and so forth, to see this show.

Remember, 2 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, December 20, at Campbell Theater. The food will help fill the Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas baskets for needy families in Campbell.

Rex Kaber, originator of the patrol, stated today that the patrol has not the authority to issue traffic citations. Kaber told the Press earlier this week that he had asked California Highway Patrol Captain Ed Tressler to give the legion patrol permission to issue parking citations. According to Tressler, that under the present organization of the patrol it has no authority to issue citations. However, Tressler reportedly told Kaber that if the Chamber of Commerce and a representative of the legion patrol would appear before the County Board of Supervisors and make the request, an agreement might be reached which would enable the patrol to issue traffic citations legally.

Kaber commended the Campbell Press for its editorial efforts which prompted organization of the patrol. He pointed out that the idea of having the patrol issue citations had originated through Campbell Press publishers who have campaigned for better control of the parking situation as well as the delinquency and vandalism problem in Campbell.

At the Board of Supervisors' meeting Monday, Fourth County District Supervisor Joseph M. McKinnon submitted a tentative traffic ordinance designed to correct the parking situation in unincorporated areas of the county. McKinnon has been called upon for aid by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce which turned over to him a petition signed by local merchants, asking for alleviation of the traffic and parking problem.

McKinnon's parking ordinance had been prepared at his request by County Counsel Howard W. Campen.

The board emphasized at the meeting, as has been discussed before in the Campbell Press, and by interested local residents, that there is at present no means for fully enforcing a parking ordinance.

NOTHING DEFINITE
Supervisor McKinnon told the Campbell Press that there is nothing definite.

Protective Association, Formed to Fight Moorpark School Annexation to S.J., To Ask Restraining Order On Election

Residents and property owners in the area served by the Moorpark School moved to take legal action to halt annexation of Moorpark school to San Jose when the Bradley Manor annexation election comes up. More than 100 residents of the area met last night in Campbell Grammar School and set up an organization tentatively entitled the "Moorpark School Protective Association."

The association, through Attorney Paul Gallagher, will file legal action to obtain a restraining order against the election until the Moorpark School is excluded from the proposed annexation territory. This move is in behalf of the property owners who reside within the Campbell school district but outside the Bradley Manor annexation area, according to Wade Brummal, public relations representative of the association.

Officers of the association are Ed Teresi, chairman; Larry Reeder, vice-chairman; Joseph Hosheit, treasurer, and Mrs. Billie Lewis, secretary.

PETITIONS
In addition to the restraining order move, the association will circulate petitions among Bradley Manor property owners calling for cancellation of the election. Brummal explained that if fifty-one percent of the property owners sign the petition, the election can be halted.

Principal objection of the association to the election is that the Moorpark School is included in the annexation area. At present the school is within the Campbell Elementary School District. If the school is annexed to San Jose, Brummal said, school authorities have warned that the result will be double sessions at Campbell Grammar School to handle the increased load of children now attending Moorpark School. These would be the children of families living within the school district but outside the annexation area. As a result, an increased load would be placed upon the Campbell school, its facilities teachers and staff, plus the Campbell taxpayers. The increased cost to taxpayers would be due in large part to transporting the new students to Campbell.

At present school bus transportation is provided on Campbell School District buses for school children outside the annexation area attending Moorpark. If the school were annexed, Brummal stated, the transportation cost to Campbell would increase, and those who continued to attend Moorpark would be without buses.

According to a reported statement of Ross Trowbridge, member of the Campbell School board, no agreement or contract has been offered by the San Jose School officials.

In addition to the double sessions at Campbell School and the transportation problem, other main objections to the annexation were that some 400 children now attending Moorpark School would come under the San Jose Unified School District and cost of educating a child in San Jose district is about $30 per year higher than cost in the Campbell School District.

Further, objectors pointed out that the San Jose district, if successful in annexing Moorpark School, would have little difficulty in taking in other schools where only a minority of the district residents voted on the issue.

A collection was taken up at the meeting to defray expense of legal counsel, and the association has announced that further contributions may be sent to Moorpark School, care of Principal John Duncan.

Exchange Student From Germany Finds Outlook Good For West Europe

Present conditions in Western Europe indicate no possibility of a revival of movements leading to war, and the outlook is good. This was the stated opinion of the Campbell Kiwanis Club's guest speaker Tuesday. He was Lothar Boessing, former Nazi paratrooper, now an exchange student at Montezuma School above Los Gatos.

Milton Nelson introduced the speaker who gave a talk on "Rehabilitation in Western Germany." He gave a brief description of his native town, Cologne in Western Germany, and described extent of war damage in the section.

CAMPBELL SERVICE
Boessing said he graduated from high school in 1943 and immediately was taken into the military. Service was compulsory at that age. He eventually ended in the paratroops and participated in the Battle of the Bulge where he was taken a prisoner of war.

With the end of the war, he became interested in the idea of the interchange of students with the schools in this country, and it was through this means that he was sent to Montezuma School for a term. He will return soon to Germany to conclude his education. Boessing touched on the cultural

Legion Post Rates State, National Member Awards

Two state legion awards and a possible national award will be forthcoming for Campbell American Legion Post 596 as a result of their successful membership drive this fall. Post Commander Leo Parks said the membership for the local unit was 126 on November 11, the closing date of the drive. This was one over their quota of 125. The post now has a membership of 134, which number is also their four-year average membership figure. If one more member joins, the post will exceed its average and be eligible for another national award.

At the last meeting, held Wednesday night, the post took in four new members: John Burda, John F. Meikle, Louis Azevedo and Harvey Thompson. Next Legion Post meeting will be December 28; meanwhile, the legionnaires will have their regular hospital meeting at the Palo Alto Veterans Administration Hospital on Tuesday, December 20.

Musical Selection, Community Sing, Candy For The Children On Program

A gala program with community singing, candy for the children, and organ selections by a noted musician will be featured on the community program next Thursday, December 22, when some lucky Campbell shopper will be awarded a new 1949 deluxe Plymouth sedan.

The program will begin at 6:45 p.m., so the public is advised to be at the grammar school lighted ball park early. A large crowd is expected to turn out for the program and the excitement of seeing or being the winner. The tickets will be drawn at 7:30 p.m. by Santa Claus from a revolving bin on a Western Gravel cement truck.

A special delivery letter announced by the committee in charge, will be as follows: four tickets will be drawn. Holders of those tickets will be notified that their ticket has been drawn and of the drawing sequence number, whether it was first, second, third or fourth. A special delivery letter will be sent out immediately if holder is out of town, and holders will also be notified by telephone. The four ticket holders will be notified that the auto is theirs providing it is claimed by 6 p.m. December 29 and providing the holders or holders of tickets drawn prior to his has not appeared by that time and date.

This will be the first recent attempt at a big Campbell community sing, and if the public enjoys it, the sing may become an annual Christmas event.

All children attending the program will be given candy by the committee. Pete Lico has announced. Committee members are Cel Gerevas, Dobbie Jeffers and Lico.

C. P. Klassen has charge of the musical program whose highlights will be organ selections by Reginald Greenbrook of Campbell. Mr. Greenbrook, organist at the First Methodist Church of San Jose, has appeared in musicals in many Santa Clara Valley communities. There will be musical numbers by artists of the Campbell area as well as the group carol singing.

THE FARMER'S CORNER

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California)

The shrewd Yankee traders of early-day New England had well-earned reputations for being smart men with dollars. Not that these pioneers were miserly particularly—they just knew sound business practices and how to make dollars work.

Disturbed over the fact that the Federal Government today shows scant regard for the fundamental law of economic survival by spending more than it can possibly earn, a group of economists recently met to consider the problem. Interestingly, they chose New England as the place for their meeting.

The old Yankee traders would have been proud of the common sense displayed at the New England State Tax Officials Association gathering.

In plain language, Dr. Henry H. Wriston, president of Brown University, urged "conservation of the taxpayers." It is a problem, he said, that is "far more serious than the gullying of farm lands."

"We are cropping profits needed to be plowed back into the soil like legumes," the noted educator declared.

America stands at the threshold of an era of a vast new program of social services, social insurance, and social welfare, Wriston warned. Then bluntly stating that he was not asking for kindness for the taxpayers, Wriston said:

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Campbell Press, Campbell, California.

Gentlemen: The directors of the Community Service Fund of Campbell, Cambrian, Moreland, San Tomas, Moorpark and Beverly-Burbank wish to thank you for the splendid publicity and cooperation you have given them in the recent campaign for funds.

Even though our goal was not attained a fine showing has been made. We are confident that the youth groups, school milk funds and Visiting Nurse Association will all benefit by your efforts, and in turn their activities will make our communities better and happier places in which to live. We are very grateful to you.

Sincerely,
Community Service Fund,
Laurance J. Hill, president,
Marion D. Parker, secretary,

"Conservation of taxpayers has no more to do with kindness than animal husbandry. It's just good business to fatten up animals before you slaughter them and the taxpayer should be treated the same way. If you are going to tax him, keep him in a position to produce taxes."

In that regard, the question was posed — and left unanswered —: How can the Federal Government take 40 percent of the national income in taxes without discouraging risk capital and shrinking job opportunities?

Obviously, as the economists indicated by their lack of an answer, the Federal Government cannot take 40 percent of the national income in taxes without seriously impairing the productivity of the taxpayers any more than a farmer can kill off all his cattle for sale at the market and still hope to make a living the following year.

The recently concluded session of the 81st Congress appropriated the greatest sum of public money of any peacetime Congress in American history. It spent—after debating economy throughout the early part of the session—some $46,400,000,000. This amount, spread over twenty appropriation measures, insures a deficit of at least $4,000,000,000 for the present fiscal year!

Beyond a few trite protestations from the President deprecating this glaring problem (with sincere objection from all too few of the Nation's lawmakers), nothing is being done about this staggering financial mortgage placed against every American for generations to come.

In fact, from what can be learned, a $4,000,000,000 annual deficit to be added to the already monumental national debt is just the beginning. Evidently it is not enough that the dollar today has a value of below 40 cents as compared to 100 cents a few short years ago.

President Truman, it has been recorded, had 73 major legislative requests for the first session of the 81st Congress. Of that number, 44 were enacted, thus insuring the national deficit.

The remaining 29 proposals will be on the calendar when Congress reconvenes in 1950, however, undoubtedly the vast majority of those to be enacted will serve to plunge the Nation further into debt—unless Congress decides to increase taxes even more, which seems improbable. Unlike the President, who constantly requests additional revenue, the lawmakers apparently believe the taxpayers have had more than enough, even though they refuse to do anything about it.

The economists at the New England convention were frank to say that the heavy federal tax load has put the national economy in the danger zone. As they pointed out, if the country goes beyond the danger point, it will go down and drag the remainder of the free world with it.

More About Traffic Ordinance

ing definite to date. "I'm going to get the ordinance passed," he stated, "and if the group (legion patrol) wants to undertake it, it's all right with me. I don't believe the legion patrol should be quoted as agreeing to it as I only talked to the Chamber of Commerce. One of the members, Mr. Dahl I believe, suggested that the legion patrol might handle it." McKinnon said it was up to the Chamber of Commerce to obtain enforcement of the ordinance after it is passed.

County Counsel Campen, when asked about the parking ordinance, said that it is now a tentative matter with only general regulation provisions. "Before it can be passed, regulations pertaining to the Campbell area will have to be spelled out. Mr. McKinnon is working on defining the precise area to be covered, defining the zones, and markings. The ordinance would have to be enforced by the sheriff," he continued. The Legion Patrol "will have to enter an agreement with him."

Commenting upon the statements of McKinnon and Campen, Kaber said the patrol would immediately confer with the Chamber of Commerce president, J. M. Dahl, on the proposed ordinance and would offer its services as the enforcing agency.

ORDINANCE OUTLINE

The proposed parking ordinance contains no specific regulations for Campbell, so far. It is entitled "An Ordinance regulating the parking of motor vehicles upon roads and highways in designated congested areas in the unincorporated areas of the County of Santa Clara; providing for the erection of signs to regulate the parking of motor vehicles in said congested areas; requiring compliance with said regulations and providing penalties for violations of the terms hereof; and providing for the determination of those certain congested areas to which these regulations shall apply."

Under Section 4, entitled "Congested Areas," both Campbell and Los Altos are listed as subheads, but the space allowed below for insertion of "parking regulations applicable thereto," is still blank.

Section 1 defines words and phrases used; Section 2 concerns general Parking Administration through the Road Commissioner; Section 3 lists Parking Regulations; Section 4 would define which of these regulations are applicable to Campbell. Section 5 covers erection of signs, painting of streets and curbs; Section 6, enforcement of parking regulations, and Section 7, effect of the ordinance.

Mr. Sydney Barker, who recently sang the bass solo in the Christmas cantata at the church, will sing Malotte's "Lord's Prayer." Mr. Barker possesses an exceptionally fine bass voice. Louella Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rice, will play a group of organ compositions at the beginning of the program.

The community is cordially invited to attend this Christmas music program and tea. The tea will be in charge of Mrs. Fred Feilman and women from the W.S.C.S. organization, assisted by the girls of the youth organization. Mrs. R. E. Schaeffle will be the featured soloist at the regular Sunday morning worship service at the Methodist Church. Helicopters' amazing ability is working for Pacific Telephone in some places today...helping stop trouble.

How a new sky patrol protects your calls

1. You really get a bird's-eye view from a hovering 'copter. And it's proving a big help in checking our Long Distance routes... Air patrols watch for leaning poles, soil erosion, settling earth... anything that might cause future trouble. They do it fast, too. In one test, a crew recently checked 276 miles of buried cable route in nine hours; it would have taken about six days by land.

3. Keeping ahead of trouble helps keep your service valuable. Today it's more valuable than ever... the many new telephones that have been rushed into service make it possible for you to call more of the people you want to call. More can call you. And your telephone is still a bargain in these days of higher costs. After all, a few pennies buy a call.

2. On-the-spot delivery of repairmen and materials is another use of the flexible helicopter. Since it can literally drop on a blanket, it comes in handy reaching isolated spots... or when snow or floods make roads hard to travel. Helicopter patrol is another example of how we keep looking ahead for the progressive developments that help keep your service always ready to work for you.

Size of the estate is about 19 acres.

The order is represented by the San Francisco law firm of Peart, Baraty and Hassard, with Attorney Peart handling the matter. Application was signed by Peart, Katherine Condo, Blanche Denevan and Agnes Ritter.

Hearing on the application will be conducted by the Planning Commission on Wednesday, December 21.

THIS CALIFORNIA

A Weekly Column By
Lt.-Gov. Goodwin Knight

One of the pleasing discoveries I have made as a result of the publication of this column is that weekly newspapers and the smaller dailies are thoroughly and earnestly read by their subscribers. The response to my requests for letters from farmers outlining their problems has been surprisingly large.

Almost every letter has given me a deeper insight into the problems and woes that be-devil the farmer, and almost without exception, the letters make constructive suggestions as to what could be done to better the situation.

One of the most thought-provoking letters received last week comes from a San Mateo County farmer. He says in part:

"Mr. Knight, I wonder if you realize that city dwellers outnumber farmers in California five to one, and that any farm program that does not benefit these consumers is not a fair program."

"Farmers, as a class, resent the necessity of special legislation in their behalf. Yet, under present conditions, many of us would have to discontinue farming without these aids."

GROWING COSTS HIGH

"Even small farmers have a heavy investment in their farms, a larger investment than the average small business man has in his business. I estimate that the average 50-acre farm requires an investment of $22,000 before the farmer can plant a seed, and that figure is modestly low. Say the land costs him $100 an acre. That's $5000. A small house, $5000. Barns and out-buildings, $5000. Tractor, car, truck, disc, plow, cultivators and small tools—say another $5000. Pumps, motors, irrigation equipment and a host of other essentials to good farming cost another $2000. Total—$22,000."

"Now the farmer must prepare his ground for planting. He must plow, disc, level, furrow. He must fight nematodes, wireworms, beetles, bugs, slugs, snails, flying insects, plant diseases. He must fertilize the soil. He must harvest, pack and ship. And not a single operation can be done without an outlay of money."

PROFITS SMALL, TOO

"Being conservative still, let's say the cost of producing the crop is $5000. That brings his total investment up to $27,000. If he is lucky, he may net $2500 for his year's work."

GIRL SCOUT

News

Troop 22

Campbell Girl Scout Troop 22 is brushing up on their singing with the hope of caroling at Christmas time.

The scouts are also active in badge work. Under the direction of their leader, Kathy Kollmer, the following girls are working on the Players badge: Nancy Richards, Joyce Gomes, Leseth Hing, Beverly Stronberg, Caroline Koeck and Barbara Wadsworth.

Marian Gould, Notha Hill, Diana Robba, Joanne Strong, Mar cia Webb and Judy Keech are working toward their Cyclist badge with Mrs. Ethel Arnold.

Horsewomen

The horsewoman badge has proved most popular. Eleven girls have completed their badge under direction of Mr. and Mrs. Terhune of the Alum Rock Riding Stable. The girls who have enjoyed learning about horses and riding are Audrey Arnold, Joyce Gomes, Notha Hill, Leseth Hing, Jacqueline Jansen, Judy Keech, Mary Anne Parysek, Nancy Richards, Beverly Stronberg, Joanne Strong and Veda Thompson.

"But, suppose his crop is a failure. Suppose prices for his produce are below the cost of production. Where does this farmer get off?"

To which I reply: "I don't know. That's what I'm trying to find out through this column. I do know, however, that the American public consumes 450 million meals a day, and that these meals must be placed on 150 million tables, come fire, flood or frustration."

I am fascinated with what I am learning from your letters. Keep sending them in.

The badge in Child Care has been completed by Veda Thompson, Barbara Wadsworth, Audrey Arnold, Mary Anne Parysek, and Jacqueline Jansen. The girls worked under tutelage of Mrs. Henry Parysek.

Troop 22 is aiding its sponsoring unit, the Campbell Elementary School Parent-Teacher association, by caring for the younger children in Scout Hall during the PTA meetings. Scouts also sold candy at the variety show presented by the PTA.

LET'S BROWSE IN THE CAMPBELL LIBRARY

Fiction and non-fiction are given equal attention in the new books available at the Campbell branch of the Santa Clara County Library. Mrs. Elizabeth Singletary county librarian, provides brief reviews of the latest additions to the local office.

Walker, Mildred.

Medical Meeting, 1949

The author has called this novel the spiritual successor to Dr. Norton's Wife. It is all about doctors and their wives, and its theme is the devotion and integrity in marriage. The central setting is a medical meeting at which Dr. Henry Baker presents a paper on his discovery of a new life-saving drug. And although "medical meetings are to doctors and their wives what picnics are to children" this meeting is far from being a picnic. The marriage of the doctor and his wife is put to a severe test during the few days that the story covers. Miss Walker writes with understanding and insight, and has given us one of her finest novels. Stone, Irving.

Passionate Journey, 1949.

To his list of fictionalized biographies, which include Vincent Van Gogh, Jack London, Clarence Darrow, Jessie Benton Fremont and Eugene Debs, Irving Stone has added the story of John Noble.

America's painter from Kansas. The artist spent his childhood in the west, and although he was in Europe during his productive years and studied under Laurens, he remained an American "westerner". There is the legend, for instance, of "John's mighty drinking"; and the one about the time he rode a white horse into the Quatz Arts Ball and shot out all the lights; and on the same white horse, dressed in complete cowboy outfit, he rode into the Paris bank and demanded all his money. These are the incidents which give the book liveliness. The theme, as expressed in the title, is that of an artists' ceaseless search for spiritual meaning.
